

Micro sample of biodiversity in Boggart Hole Clough Ancient Woodland

All photos below taken in the Clough between 2005 & 2020.

Grey Heron

Oak

Speckled Wood

Yellow Brain

Collared Earthstar

Enchanter's Nightshade

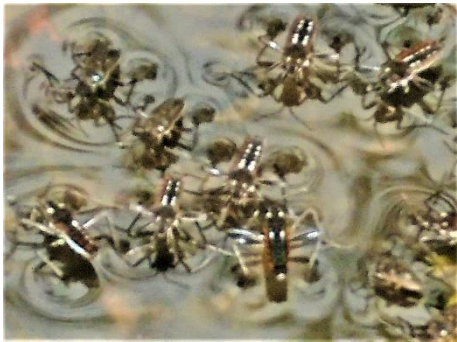

Artist's Conk

Willow Catkins

Rowan

Water Crickets

Stemonitis Slime Mold

Bumble Bee / Dandelion

Caution: fungi & berries etc shown above may be poisonous.

Actually, no biodiversity should be foraged at present as ecologists report the woodland to be in an unfavourable condition, but it can still be harmlessly, enjoyably explored.

Free Natural History Walks every Saturday starting 10am outside the Lakeside Café with our Weekly Waterbirds Survey. Walks on other days by arrangement. Manchester City Council covid rules, e.g. re physical distancing, are observed.

FoBHC info: www.boggart.org.uk ~ facebook.com/boggart.org.uk